In the next year, we'll be introducing a new Photo Lab feature set, a new web design editor including new design workflows and frontiers for us to explore, and a brand new set of 3D content from our partnership with Substance. We're excited to grow new content from our exciting new line up of digital artists. Seen something missing? We can't wait to hear about your thoughts on these changes in the comments section below. To keep up with all the latest Photoshop news, make sure to sign up for our newsletter. Photoshop's Content Aware Fill feature will be available in Elements. Unlike Photoshop, Elements uses the connected, cloud-based services for every photo editing task. Content Aware Fill makes it easy to fill in major blips like clouds or sky in a photo, and makes editing the image as simple as dragging around a fill tool. In fact, there's no reason to do a manual, pixel-by-pixel brush fill ever again! Photoshop's 3D features will be removed in future updates. Users working with 3D are encouraged to explore Adobe's new Substance 3D collection, which represents the next generation of 3D tools from Adobe. Additional details on the discontinuation of Photoshop's 3D features can be found here: Photoshop 3D Common questions on discontinued 3D features. For amateurs who want to get creative with their photos, Adobe Photoshop Elements is still the best game in town. Professionals, of course, can do all this and more with the full Photoshop application, but that comes with a high learning curve and recurring price tag. Elements makes a lot of the coolest Photoshop effects accessible to nonprofessionals. It offers a generous subset of the pro editor's features in a simpler package.
